

Most frequently looked up information on the top of the page, which gives people quick access to their wanted information

Big main event poster in the center, with colorful design showing that it is a theme park for families and children.

Multiple rewards showing the quality of the themepark, increase the reliability. Red color to attract people to notice

Other key information about the theme park. Facilities, accommodation or the gifts, for the people with specific requirements. Also includes the newest information about the park, such as COVID-19 update.

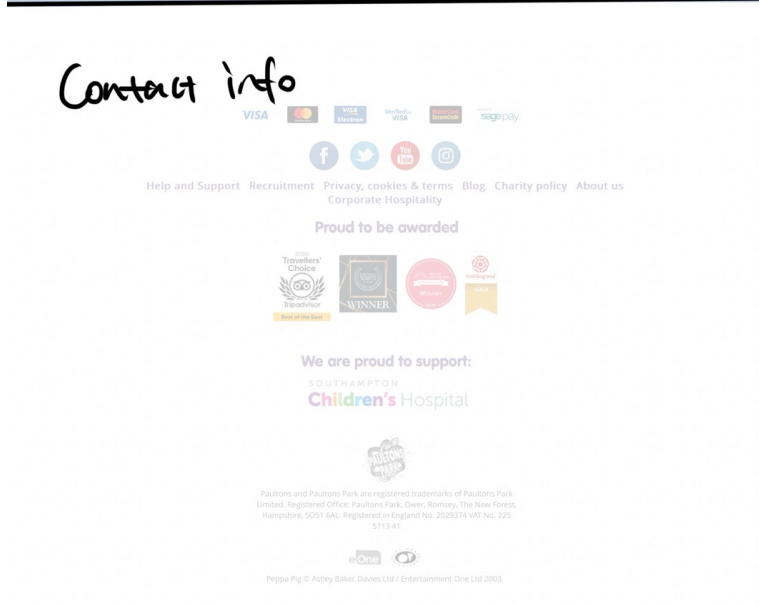

Text information helps people get deeper information for those who want, so that put at the mid-bottom part of the website.

Map information for those who needed

Detailed opening time for those who is planning to come in the future

Accessibility information is important, with big sign. For those disable people this becomes a key factor wheather they come or not.

Employability for advertisements.

Conclusion:
A great website design for a theme park overall, easy access to key information, great looking design that matches the theme, updated information for different kinds of people and so on.